Creditor Resources, Inc. (CRI) Wins AACUC's Annual Chairman's Award

October 15, 2009—Atlanta-based Creditor Resources, Inc. (CRI) announced today that it is one of three recipients of the African-American Credit Union Coalition's (AACUC) 2009 Chairman's Award. CRI received the award in recognition of its ongoing support of the non-profit organization. The AACUC develops internship and mentoring programs to promote the credit union movement among African-American business students, and provides tuition for native Africans to be educated at the Strathmore University World Council Advanced Management Institute in Nairobi, Kenya.

"When we founded the AACUC 11 years ago we had very little funding," says Immediate Past Chair Barbara Stephens. "From the start, CRI provided marketing services and printing to spread our mission. They helped put us on the map and have continued to be one of our top supporters both in terms of monetary and in-kind donations. I can't tell you how happy we are to be business partners with CRI."

Creditor Resources, Inc. markets credit insurance, state-of-the art technology products, turnkey marketing solutions and comprehensive training programs exclusively to credit unions. Creditor Resources, Inc. is an AEGON company.
